Driving away the encroachers was tried during 1970's with the help of revenue authorities and police force, but was not successful. Subsequently, the Government de-reserved 2602.64 acres (six blocks) of Boula RF for resettlement of evacuees of Salandi Irrigation Project, but about 291 families continued to stay in encroachment sites such AS Pitanau and Dalki. 536 families settled in above six blocks of de-reserved Boula RF. For resettlement of these encroachers, 1302 acres (two blocks) of Salpada B-Class RF was disreserved which the encroachers refused to accept on the plea of unsuitability of the land for cultivation for which the same land were diverted for distribution to landless tribals and harijans who had lost their lands on either side of river Baitarani and Kusei due to sand casting and displaced persons who have lost their houses during the flood in river Baitarani in Aug 1975.
